

Bamboo Visitors

Dense bamboo forests hosts many lives. some nests in and some visits these bamboos. every bamboo has a story to tell.

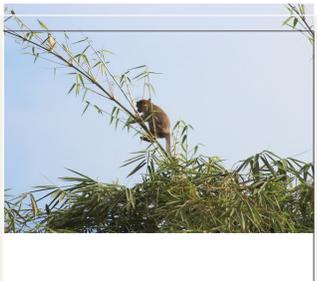

1. Orb Weaver Spider.

I only noticed this long jawed spider when it's web was all over me. it's hard to notice these spiders in the darker dense bamboo base. they hide and strike their prey.

2. Red-Whiskered Bulbul.

They are found in every corner of the bamboo. they always make sounds making it hard to identify the other birds. they have beautiful red spot on the cheek.

3. Bonnet Macaque.

i was talking a walk around the Gothra and noticed him climbing up the bamboo. .

i think he needed a good place with beautiful view to take rest. Recently Bonnet macaque were included in schedule one of wildlife protection act.

4. Asian green bee-eater

I was sitting near the pond when I noticed this green beauty. During winter season she seems to visit the bamboo's in Gothra. It's long central tail feather make it easier to identify them. sometimes i find her on the bamboo and also on fences.

5. Purple-rumped Sunbird (male).

He is always busy trying to find nectar in every morning. It was hard to get a photo of him, i had to do it through a glass window so that he won't notice me and fly away.

6. Caterpillar

She was feeding on the leaves when i saw her. slowly moving with her thousands of legs. it was nice to see.

7. Blyth's Reed Warbler.

it took me hours to get him to pose for this photo. Everytime i reach the bamboo he hides and hop around the branches. He frequently makes a blyth sound ,that's may be why he is named Blyth's reed warbler
